

Arrow button

Indicate clickable areas used for navigation.

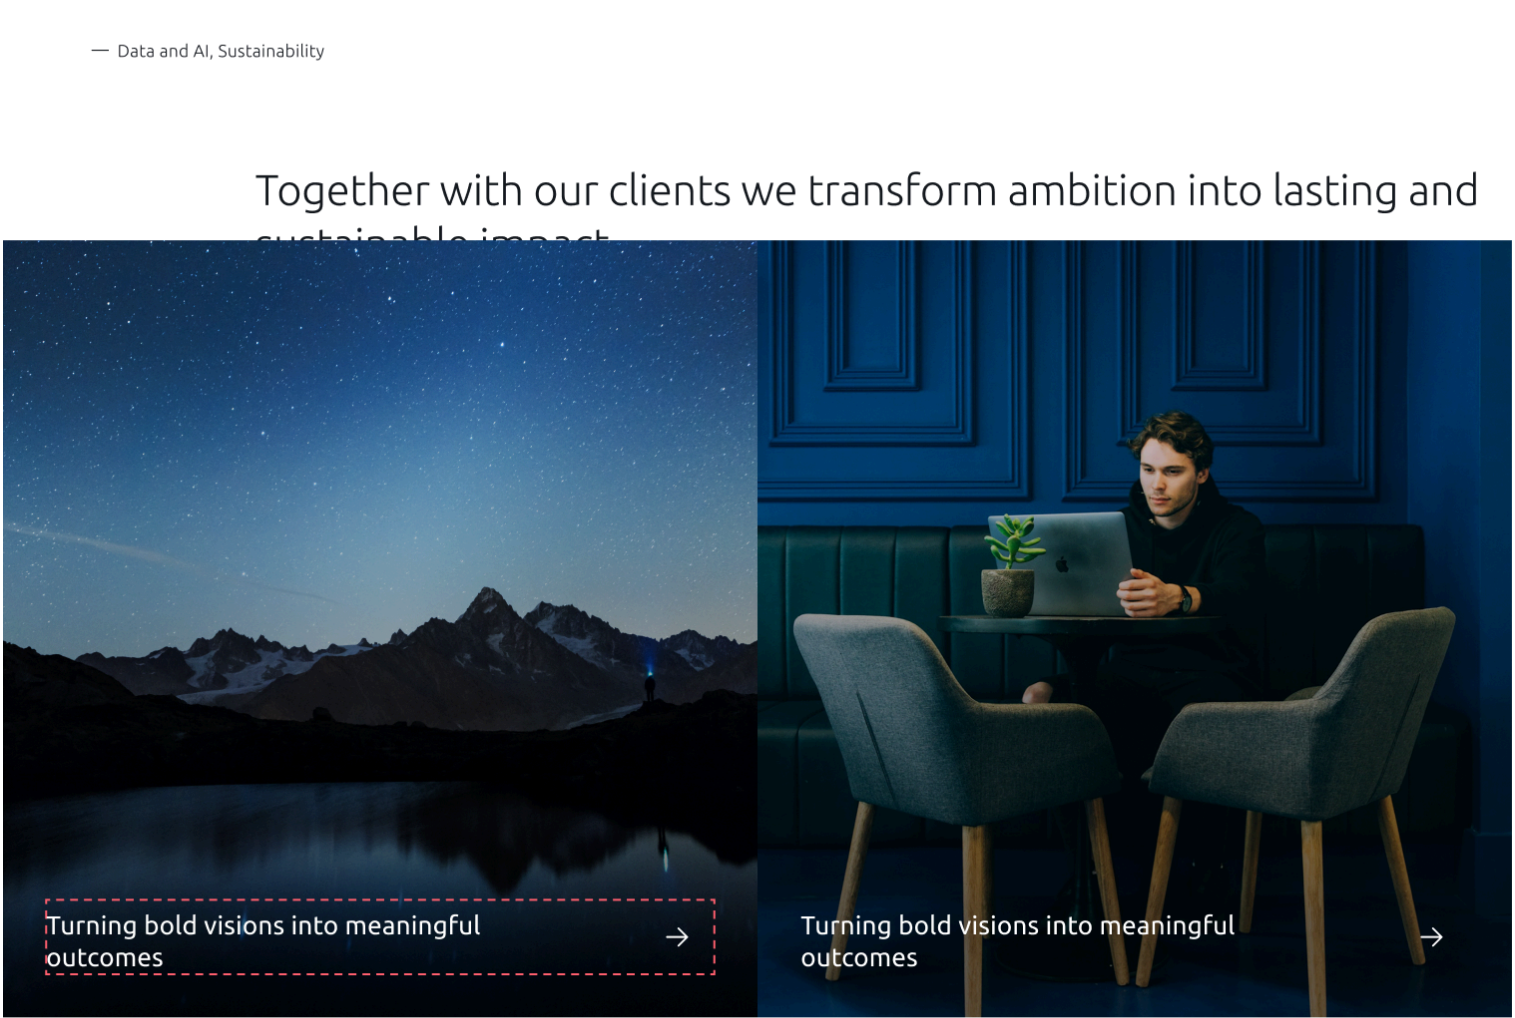

Usage

Arrow buttons vs Tertiary icon buttons

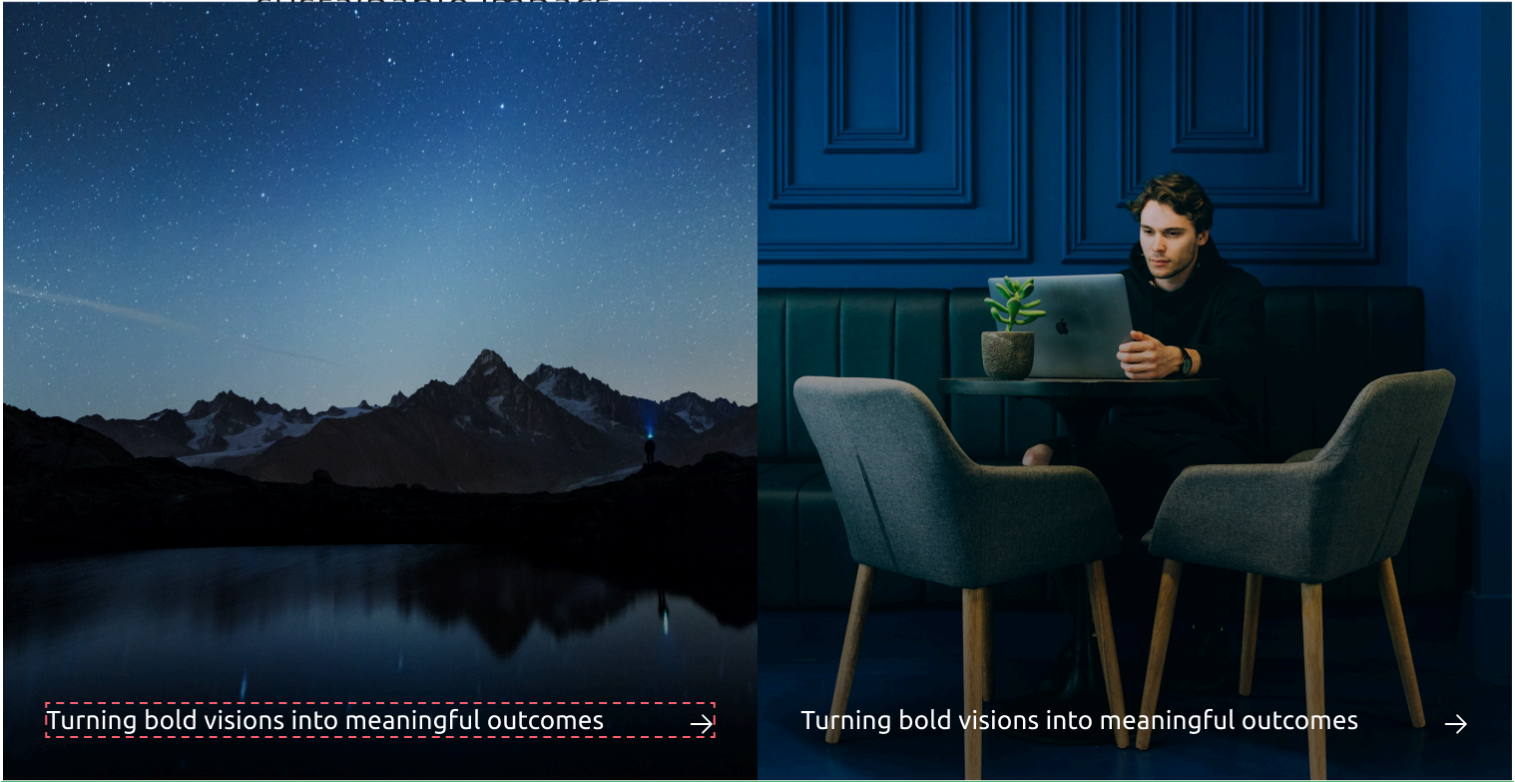

Arrow buttons and tertiary icon buttons serve different purposes in layout alignment. Tertiary icon buttons include padding, which can cause visual misalignment in certain designs, especially when placed next to text or other elements.

Use an Arrow button when:

- A large area, like an entire card, is clickable, as the arrow button itself has a reduced clickable area compared to a tertiary icon button.
- The arrow needs to visually align with surrounding content.

Together with our clients we transform ambition into lasting and sustainable impact

✓ Do

Use an arrow button when the entire card is interactive, and the arrow should align with adjacent elements like text.

Together with our clients we transform ambition into lasting and sustainable impact

Turning bold visions into meaningful outcomes

Turning bold visions into
meaningful outcomes

⊗ Don't

Do not use the tertiary icon button when the arrow needs to align with the text.

✓ Do

Ensure the arrow button is aligned with any text or other elements.

Arrow button
Specs

Icon button
Overview

